

2012/13 WINTER FOOT SKILLS CLINICS

The Quick Feet Soccer Academy was designed by Jim Toth Jr. as an outlet program for players of all ages and skill levels to receive the personal attention needed to develop foot skills, dribbling techniques, ball control, one vs. one attacking skills and the importance of first touch. Jim Toth Jr. has been teaching foot skills to youth soccer players for many years. Coach Jim uses a unique method of breaking down even the most complex moves to make them easy for players of all ages to learn and perfect. He begins by teaching a foundation of moves with hundreds of touches on the ball providing ample repetition. After the player demonstrates the ability to perform this basic foundation of skills, Coach Jim begins to add higher technical challenges while continuing to reinforce the core skills. After time the player not only develops an arsenal of individual moves with the ball, but also increases the softness of the first touch and general comfort and control with the ball at his/her feet. Small sided games are also incorporated into our training sessions placing players in the most realistic game situations possible, allowing them to perfect technical skills in a tactical environment. WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

I have had the distinct pleasure of knowing Jim Toth for over six years on several different levels as a fellow coach, foot skills instructor, and supervisor. With his coaching and player experience, Jim brings a wealth of knowledge to all his training sessions.

As a fellow coach, I have had the pleasure to coach with him and observe his training sessions. His sessions are well organized and structured to get the most out of his players during each and every session. His knowledge of the game of soccer is displayed in his ability to change practice plans in a moment's notice in order to make a practice more productive. Jim has earned the respect from his opposing coaches, parents, and most importantly his players. He has mastered the ability to teach the game of soccer, while also teaching the love of the game to his players.

As a foot skills instructor, I have to say there is no one that I have witnessed conduct a foot skills session better than Jim. With his international experience as a young player, he was exposed to several different coaching styles and has incorporated them into his training sessions - whether it is a foot skills session or a team training session. After observing players take the foot skills session with him, you notice not only a difference in their ability but more importantly their confidence to pull off the newly acquired skill.

As a supervisor, he is a fair and honest businessman which always makes work more enjoyable. He is always the first one to step in and assist when needed, and more importantly he knows when he should step back and observe. He has confidence in all his coaches, which translates into the players and parents having confidence in the entire coaching staff.

Over the past 10 years I have worked with several coaches and feel that Jim Toth is one of the more knowledgeable and respected coaches coaching the game of soccer today.

I have had the pleasure of coaching and playing with/against Jim Toth for the better part of ten years and have been involved with the game of soccer for over thirty. As a player, his touch and ability with the ball is as good as if not better than anyone I've seen in the area. He has worked extremely hard on perfecting the technical side of the game as a player, and knows what it takes to succeed on the field.

But what sets him apart from all the other great soccer players in Northeast Ohio is his natural ability to break down and teach every move in his arsenal. Just because someone excels as a player doesn't mean it will translate over to coaching. I've seen it all too often. Jim's passion for coaching and teaching will show through right from the start. I highly recommend any player looking to improve the technical side of their game to schedule a training session with Jim. When the session is over and he's "off the clock," make sure you ask him to demonstrate some of his fancy footwork!

Sincerely,
Todd Ramsey

I first met Jim Toth in the Fall of 2003 when our U10 girls teams met in the championship game of the Bay Challenge Cup Soccer Tournament. After a couple of brief conversations I combined with Jim to help build Erie Futbol Club, Jim's premier soccer club. After working with Jim for several months, I asked him to join me in my new venture as the head coach of the girls soccer program at Fairview High School. We share a very similar vision of the game. So similar, in fact, that after 15 months in another club, I felt compelled to return to Erie Futbol Club to rekindle my relationship with Jim and coach in an environment much more conducive to player development technically, tactically, psychologically and emotionally.

There are two key reasons I continue to coach with Jim and why I have asked him to come back to Fairview for the upcoming Fall season. First, Jim has invested the time and energy to learn the intricacies of coaching female athletes. I did this when I first began coaching girls and know just how important this is to success. The second is Jim has a very unique, and likely the best I have ever seen, method of teaching individual foot skills. All of his players excel in individual skill. His patience and attention to detail with each individual player ensures positive development and preparation to excel at the next level. I would personally guarantee that you will be thrilled with your child's individual skill development under the tutelage of Jim Toth.
